FAILS TO LOCATE SON LONG LOST.

John E. Galvin of Brattleboro Gives Up Hunt in New York City—Broken Hearted.

New York, Sept. 12.—John E. Galvin, a prosperous farmer of Brattleboro, Vt., has just left this city after a fruitless search for his son John, who disappeared four years ago. At that time John was 28 years old.

Mrs. John Greenings of Brooklyn, while visiting Brattleboro, heard the story of Galvin's disappearance and told the father that a man bearing the name of John E. Galvin and resembling the missing son could be found in Brooklyn.

The father journeyed to Brooklyn and there met a man who in name and outward appearance resembled his son, but who emphatically denied the relationship. The old man spent a day with him, hoping that by some slip the young man's true self might be revealed.

Convinced at last that he had the wrong clue, Mr. Galvin called at police headquarters and left a description of his son, then boarded the train back to Brattleboro. The old man was broken-hearted by his failure.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—Appeal bonds aggregating between $5,000,000 and $7,500,000 must be furnished by the Standard Oil company of Indiana before the superfund case asked for will be issued by the United States circuit court of appeals. Without the superfund the government will be at liberty to levy on the property for execution under the judgment of $29,240,000 returned against the company in Judge K. M. Landis' court.

The amount of bonds to be required was plainly indicated by Judge Grosscup at a conference held Tuesday in his chambers between the attorneys for the company and the government; the order will not be issued before next Tuesday.

Under the tentative arrangement there will be two bonds. One of these will be for $2,000,000 cash and furnished by a surety company, and the other will be what is known as a forthcoming bond to cover the value of the Whiting plant. It is this last bond which is in question and over which there will be a struggle.

SHELDON'S THREATS.

To Call Nebraska Legislature If Railroaders Get Fractious.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 12.—Governor Sheldon said yesterday that if the railroaders showed a disposition to tie up the hands of the state commission completely, he believed that radical measures on the part of the state would be found necessary.

"If the attempt is made to blink the commission all the way through," he said, "I will certainly consider the advisability of calling the legislature together to act directly upon rates."

If the legislature is called, it is expected to be more drastic than the commission. The present crisis is due to a federal court injunction intended to test the right of the commission to fix the state rates.

Woburn, Mass., Sept. 12.—After murdering her five-year-old daughter, Marion, Mrs. John J. Thornton of 14 Mt. Pleasant street, committed suicide yesterday and was found by her husband shortly after noon lying in a pool of blood, with her little daughter on a couch beside her.

The woman, who is believed to have been insane, cut the child's throat with a carving knife, and after making sure that the little one was dead, applied the keen edge of the blade to her own throat, which she slashed again and again.

The little girl was seen around the house about 10 o'clock, and was showing she complained to the police that a man had followed her home. Her neighbors say that nothing of the kind occurred.

Her maiden name was Eliza Elizabeth McLaughlin. She was 46 years old and was married nine years ago.

The police found a note addressed to the woman's husband in which she wrote that she was going to kill herself and take her daughter with her. She told her husband it was not his fault that prompted her rash act.

GROUND TO DEATH.

Nightmare Ride Ends in Death Under Train.

New York, Sept. 12.—During the rush hours of the subway early yesterday a young negro whose body is not yet identified was ground to pieces by a north-bound express.

The man boarded a local and according to passengers he acted as if he was suffering from a bad nightmare. All the way downtown the man slept a few minutes at a time and then would wake up with a start and spring to his feet. Just south of Astor place the guard interfered and shook the youth to wake him out of his swooning, which was disturbing the passengers.

The sleeping man leaped to his feet and tried to climb out of a window. Passengers caught hold of him and pulled him, struggling, to the floor. There he seemed to come to his senses, and a moment later he stood up, and as the train stopped at Bleecker street he made his way to the door and stepped off to the platform.

To the horror of the passengers the young negro stropped off down the platform, and without a word or cry leaped right upon the track, where he dodged a local but stepped in front of an express train, which killed him instantly.

SAYS NEW YORK DELEGATES WILL BE FOR ROOSEVELT.

J. A. Stewart Sure The People of The State Favor President.

Washington, Sept. 12.—President John A. Stewart, of the New York State league of Republican clubs, who recently made a canvass of the voters of the league, says the New York delegation to the Republican national convention will be controlled by President Roosevelt.

"Should Roosevelt consent to become a candidate, they will vote solidly for him," said he. "For, outside the financial district of the city, the people of the state are with the President as much as ever. If he is not to race the legislature will be favorable to some one who will carry out his policies."

"It looks now as though there would be several Curtiss delegates. Some will be for Taft, others for Hughes, and still others for Cannon. I do not think the delegates will be instructed."

Mr. Stewart said he had yet to meet a voter who did not favor tariff revision.

THEY ARE MADE FOR EACH OTHER

CORPORATIONS SHOULD BE TAXED, MELLER SAYS.

New Haven President Urges Massachusetts to Change Laws.

Boston, Sept. 12.—Charles S. Meller, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, appeared before the special committee on taxation at the State House yesterday and advocated the taxation of corporations instead of the individual holders of stocks or bonds.

His advocacy of this additional burden in corporation taxation was based, he said, on the fact that the corporations could easily be reached, while the individual stockholders, who in many instances are not residents of the state, could not be located for the purpose of taxation. He said that the Massachusetts system was crude. Mr. Meller further believed that the state should retain all the taxes received from franchises of public service corporations and not distribute them, as at present, among the cities and towns in which the corporations operate.

Mr. Meller's proposition was strongly opposed by former State Attorney General A. E. Pillsbury, representing the Massachusetts gas companies, Bentley W. Warren, representing the street railway interests, and Woodward Hudson, counsel for the New York Central company.

FREEMAN TAKEN AS A CRAP SHOOTER

Mary E. Wilkins' Husband, a Mayorality Aspirant in New Jersey, Threw for $100.

Metuchen, N. J., Sept. 12.—Dr. Charles M. Freeman, husband of Mary E. Wilkins, a novelist and a candidate for mayor or on the independent ticket, was arrested on a charge of gambling, the specific accusation being that he "shot craps" with James A. Duane, a wealthy contractor, and two negroes for stakes ranging from $5 to $100 a throw. Duane also was arrested, and both men were held in $500 bail to await action by the grand jury. Dr. Freeman provided his own bond.

Mrs. Freeman was formerly a resident of Randolph, Mass., and has a host of friends in the old Bay state.

Dr. Freeman's friends say the arrests and the story upon which they were based are part of a scheme devised by his political enemies in an effort to defeat him in his candidacy for mayor.

RUNYAN SENT TO SING SING

Seven Years at Hard Labor For Teller Who Robbed

Place Than to State Prison.

WINDSOR TRUST COMPANY

Plea of Lawyer Useless—Judge Whitman Refuses to Send Him to Any Other Place Than to State Prison.

New York, Sept. 12.—Chester Runyan, paying teller of the Windsor Trust company, who confessed to stealing nearly $100,000 of the company's funds, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Whitman to serve seven years in Sing Sing prison.

Runyan, when he took away the cash in a suit case, met Laura Carter. To her he gave money in bills, amounting to about $30,000, he said. She denied this in court, and accounted for about $5,000. She said she thought him a Pittsburgh millionaire.

His arrest was through her notifying the police about him. She is acquitted of any complicity in the case, and can now claim the $7,400 reward offered for his capture.

Runyan had hoped to be sent to Elmira or some other prison less severe than state prison.

Lawyer Cantwell addressed the court briefly in his client's behalf, quoting from a letter written by Mrs. Runyan to the effect that she hoped to live long enough to see her husband again a respectable citizen.

Judge Whitman seemed surprised at the brevity of Mr. Cantwell's plea, although it was very much to the point, the request being that Runyan be sent to "an institution." Sentence was pronounced without comment from the bench. At the words "state prison," Runyan jumped as if at a touch of a live wire. With the last word he dropped heavily into his seat.

LAWYER HELD IN MURDER OF COUNT

Pact to Get $100,000 Insurance Charged Between Him and an Actress Friend.

Moscow, Sept. 12.—A sensation has been caused here by the announcement that the real name of the murderer of Count Komarowsky, who was shot at Venice, Sept. 5, is Prilikoff, the Moscow lawyer, who recently absconded from here with his clients' funds, and not Nicholas Maumoff, who was said to be the murderer.

According to the story told here, which conflicts with other versions, Komarowsky married a vaudeville artist, Madame Tarnowska, who was Prilikoff's intimate friend. Komarowsky, who was a colonel of the national guard and a counselor of state, insured his life for $100,000 in favor of the woman who is said to have subsequently planned his murder with Prilikoff. The lawyer and the woman are held in custody at Vienna, charged with the murder.

Philadelphia Police Drag River in Search of Clue to Murder.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 12.—Dragging Gwynn's Falls, on the outskirts of the city, yesterday, the police were searching for a clue to one of the worst murders ever recorded in the state. On information given by three boys, a young negro is held on suspicion.

One of the boys declares that last Saturday the negro saw a tramp sitting near the abattoir, with a rooster in his lap. The tramp refused to give up the rooster when the negro took his club and beat him to death. Then, according to the boys, the negro stripped the tramp of his clothes and drove a big drove of hogs to the body. He later threw the skeleton into Gwynn's Falls.

The negro denies everything.
